Champions for Children

Selection Criteria

Updated July 2017

Champions for Children are state lawmakers recognized by the Children's Alliance for their outstanding service on behalf of children.

To be honored as a Champion for Children, a state lawmaker must provide significant leadership in protecting or advancing state policies or investments that improve the well-being of children in Washington.

In particular, they must:

- Partner with Children's Alliance on one of our legislative priorities, and;
- Show significant leadership, and;
- Protect or advance policies or investments that improve the well-being of children in Washington state, and/or;
- Demonstrate their understanding of how racial disparities harm children by protecting or advancing policies or investments that actively promote racial equity and improve the well-being of children of color in Washington state.
